

Dr. Louis Delhonde of Boston

Walett identifies him as “Louis Delhonde, the physician of Boston.” But there was also a Laurence, 1675-1746.

1726 July 5 (Tuesday). [Boston.] I was about various Concerns but I was very faint and incapable of Business.... I was at various places but I was not well in Either. I was very much afflicted with the Oppressions at my Stomach. I was with Dr. [Louis] Dalhonde.

1728 February 20 (Tuesday). An Appointment to go to Salem. Brother Elias and his wife went over. I rode from Charleston to Mores at Lyn, where I met them. But sister Willard being gone to Boston we returned back. Dr. Delhond, etc., in Company.

1738 June 1 (Thursday). I also waited upon Dr. Delhonde for Ebenezer who remains feeble, Sick and Coughing. In the Evening I was at Brother Alexander's where also was my Wife, and we lodged there.

1744 June 1 (Friday). Din'd at Brother Alexanders -- waited on Dr. Delhonde and paid him for what he had done last year for my Daughter Molly.

1745 July 4 (Thursday). Molly and I rode to Boston.... N.B. My Kinsman at Dr. Delhonds but is not well contented there.

1746 April 2 (Wednesday). But Lodg'd with my Kinsman Elias, who is yet with Dr. Delhonde.
