Maro (Barrow): Parkman purchases slave from father, 1728

Note: This advertisement suggests the possible origins of the slave, Maro, whom Parkman bought from his father. Elias Parkman was Ebenezer Parkman's brother.

A parcel of likely Negro Boys, and one Girl, arrived from Nevis, and were brought from Guinea, to be Sold by Mr. Henry Richards, at the House of Mr. Elias Parkman, Mast-maker at the North End, where the Negroes may be seen. (New-England Weekly Journal, Mar. 25, 1728, [2]. The advertisement also appeared in the issue of April 1.

1728 August 8 (Thursday). I entered into Obligation to my Father for the Negro Barrow. My Father gave me 5£. I pay'd him 3£ and gave a promissory Bill to pay 66£, the whole making 74£ which was the price of him.

1728 August 9 (Friday). I rode to Cambridge, Barrow, alias Maro, running on foot. Though somewhat rainy, it clear'd away after noon. After 4 o'Clock I set out, my Self on one horse and the Negro on the other.

1728 August 27 (Tuesday). Under the Engagements of my Family by reason of our want to Help, our Negro being New, I am much taken off from my Work, but I trust in God it may be better with me and more leasure ere long.

1729 December 5. It is a Day of great Darkness and Distress with both me and my Family. My own Weakness and Infirmitys increasing daily upon me and trouble of my heart greatly enlarged by my Disorders mocking the force of all Medical methods with me hitherto. My Wife also, under much Indisposition and trouble with her Breast. The Children likewise afflicted with Cold and very peevish under their uneasinesses. But Especially Maro at the Point of Death. The waves and Billows roll and roar out of the Deeps. I would Cry: Lord hear my Voice! Let not the Water floods overflow us, neither let the Deep Swallow us up!

1729 December 6. The Hand of God is still heavier upon us. Exceeding weak, low and faint, my Self, almost ready to lie down under my prevailing Infirmities. But when both my Flesh and Heart fail, God is still the Strength of my Heart, and my Portion for Ever. But Dark as it has been with us it is become much Darker at or about the Sun setting. The Sun of Maro's Life Sat. The First Death in my Family! God enable me to See His Sovereign Mind, and Comport with his holy Will!

As my Servant is Summon'd to go before, So God only knows whether his Master is not Shortly to follow after; and so the former to prove as an Harbinger to the latter. O that the whole Family may be getting ready, in another Sort than ever heretofore! But Especially O that God would enable Me to Live apace, Seeing I am Dying apace; to give Diligance, to work with my might, and to stand Waiting all the few Dayes of my appointed time, till God shall call; that when I hear the Summons, I may, with Serenity, Say, Speak Lord, thy Servant heareth, may Depart in Peace, and See the Salvation of God! While God is Stripping me of Outward Enjoyments I humbly trust God will let me have more of Himself and bestow more of Spiritual, invaluable Blessings. Every Comfort is that to us, that God makes it, and is so long with us as He pleases to Continue it.

“Negro Boys in Masquerade,” 1740

1740 August 28 (Thursday). [Cambridge.] A.M. at Sir Gay’s Chamber where was Mr. Obadiah Ayres, Mr. Samuel Coolidge, etc. Din’d at Sir Princes Chamber. P.M. Negro Boys in Masquerade.

Coollidge, Samuel: dragged by a negro, 1745

1745 July 3 (Wednesday). I din’d in the Hall. N.B. Poor Mr. Samuel Coollidge -- his Distractions and Deliriums -- pluck’d out of the presidents Chair in the Meeting House and dragg’d out on the Ground by a negro, like a Dead Dogg in presence of all the Assembly. Most piteous Sight!

Note: Samuel Coolidge (HC 1724), the former schoolmaster at Westborough and other places, who had become a public charge; Sibley’s Harvard Graduates 7:326-331.

Negro man from Mendon murders mistress, 1745

1745 September 16 (Monday). Captain Fay told me that a Negro man from Mendon was committed to gaol last night for murdering his Mistress.

1745 October 17 (Thursday). N.B. The Negro that murder’d his Mistress at Mendon, was hanged, and Mr. Campbell preach’d the Lecture at Worcester.

Pito: slave to Mrs. Parkman, Sr., and brother Samuel

1744 April 3 (Tuesday). To Boston. My Kinsman confin’d for Months past. I think ever since the 22d of last October and not able to go out of his Chamber yet. My aged Mother there with him to be Company for him. Pito carry’d back my Horse to Cambridge.

1745 May 15 (Wednesday). I rode to Boston Early -- broke fast at my Honor’d Mother’s (who is in much Comfort, except her Trouble about her Negro, Pito, who gives her much Trouble).

1746 April 21 (Monday). After Sundry Visits in the Day I met my Brethren at sister Willards to read our Honoured Mothers Last Will and Testament, and attend upon the Duty Consequent, Particularly we valued the negro Pito: and as my Mother had given him leave to choose which of us should be his Master, he chose Brother Samuel -- who took possession of him.

1757 May 24 (Tuesday). At Boston visit Cousen Procter, who has the Care of the Alms House; but we put up at Brother Samuels. He keeps a stable and an Horse but is gone a Journey to Nottingham: N.B. Pito dyed last Friday, at Chelsey.

“Negro Girl” murders bastard child, 1747

1747 May 5 (Tuesday). N.B. Most sorrowful News from Brookfield, Captain Buckminsters Negro Girl having murder’d her Bastard Child last Lords Day.

“We hear from Brookfield, that on the third Instant, in the Evening, a Negro Woman belonging to Capt. Thomas Buckminster, was deliver’d alone of a Bastard Child, which she put into the Fire and cover’d over with Coals and Ashes, and it was almost entirely consumed when discovered.” Boston Evening-Post, May 11, 1747, Issue 613, p. [2].

Capt. Stansbury’s Negro, 1750

1750 April 25 (Wednesday). I rode to Mr. Jonas Brigham to Send an Answer to a Letter from my Brother William concerning Captain Stansbury’s Negro. But they Set out Early -- however I put on hastily after them and proceeded down the Road till overtook Mr. Twitchell with the Team.

Barrett’s “Negro man” in barn that was blown down, 1751

1751 February 13 (Wednesday). I rode to Hopkinton to See Mr. Barret in his Sickness -- find he is much better. I din’d there. The Desolations in Hopkinton by the great Storm much greater than among us. Mr. Barretts, Mr. Price’s, and 10 or 11 Barns more in that Town blown down. Mr. Barretts Cattle, and his Negro Man also in the Barn at that Instant.

Roxbury: “Negro man” of Parkman’s kin - death, 1751

1751 March 26 (Tuesday). There was a Mr. Childs at Madam Dudley’s -- put up my Horse at Cousen Cowels -- visited my Kinsmans Widow -- Roxbury, her Negro man dy’d to Day -- little Elias very ill of a Fever. Lodg’d at Brother Samuels.

1751 March 27 (Wednesday). My Brother Parkman, Cozen Cowel and I attended the Funeral of poor Roxbury. I lodg’d at Brother Parkmans, and rejoice in his New Spouse.

Primus: Phinehas Rice’s Negro, 1754

1754 July 6 (Saturday). Sent an Answer to Mr. Smiths second Letter by Primus -- Mr. Phinehas Rice’s Negro.

Scipio, Ebenezer Parkman's brother Alexander's Negro: "very low," 1755

1755 May 28 (Wednesday). Mr. Checkley preach'd the Election Sermon.... Poor old Scipio (one of my Brother Alexanders Negro Men) very low. Instructed and prayed with him.

Codman, Capt., of Charleston: poisoned by a Negro, 1755

1755 July 4 (Friday). Captain Codman of Charleston was poison'd lately by a Negro.

1755 September 22 (Monday). In the Morning Mr. Jeduthun Baldwin here -- he came last Night -- is going to Crown Point -- and takes leave accordingly. N.B. He tells me the Negro Man and Negro Woman who murder'd Captain Codman of Charlestown, were Executed last Thursday, at Cambridge. The Man was hang'd, and was afterwards to be hang'd in Irons on Charlestown Neck: the Woman was burnt to Death, a frightfull Spectacle! May all hear and fear! especially to be punish'd Eternally in the Flames of Hell! May my own Soul be suitably affected with the Thought!

Gosport, Mr. Gardner's "Servant," 1755

1755 December 26 (Friday). The Negro Gosport, Mr. Gardners Servant here, and din'd here.

Sister Rebecca's Negro woman dies, 1756

1756 February 26 (Thursday). Visited my Sister Rebecca. N.B. her Negro woman dead Since I was last there.

"little Negro Boy": dies at Lt. Maynard's, 1756

1756 September 13 (Monday). Mr. Eliphalet Adams's little son of 3 and 1/2 dyed of Fever and Flux, as did a little Negro Boy of Lt. Maynards.

1756 September 14 (Tuesday). A.M. at the Funeral of Mr. Eliphalet Adams's Child; P.M. at the Burying of Lt. Maynards little Negro Boy. At Each House another Child is taken with the Distemper, and we have great reason to fear its Spreading.

Essex, Mr. Mason's slave: father of Mercy Maynard's child, 1756

1756 October 6 (Wednesday). N.B. Old Mr. Maynard and his Children in much sorrow intermixed with their Joy. Neighbour Nathans Wife is brought to bed and has a Son -- but Mercy likewise and the Latter has a black one. Thought to be by Mr. Masons Essex. A most grievous and Sore Evil! God grant her Repentance and her Wicked Companion also: and Support the wounded Relatives, and give to each of that Grace which may be sufficient for them!

Scipio and Titus: slaves of Rev. Samuel Barrett of Hopkinton, 1759

1759 January 9 (Tuesday). Capt. Wood and I rode to visit Mr. Barrett and his son; They and theirs having gone through a variety of Changes, especially the Death of one Negro man (Scipio) and sickness of another (Titus) but great Mercys intermixed; their House saved from Burning -- but especially young Mr. Barrett a son lately born John.

William Holloway's "Servant Nero" or "Negro Man," 1759

In his last will and testament, November 9, 1759,<sup>1</sup> William Holloway of Westborough made the following provisions for his "Servant Nero":

"Further it is my will that my wife have the Labour of my Servant Nero during her Life if she continues my Widow. And in Case Nero should be sick or die that my three Children afores<sup>d</sup>, go to Mill and find Her sufficient Firewood at the Door cut for the Fire and fetched from any part of my Land where she pleases."

"My will is that my Negro Man Nero have Liberty to make either of my Childrens Houses his Home, and that in Case of his Sickness He shou'd be maintained out of my Estate, He to serve his Mistress faithfully and truly during her Widowhood and if He shall so do in the Judgment of my Executors my Will is that at my wifes Decease He shall be free."

William Holloway died at the age of seventy on January 6, 1760. His widow Mary, who signed her own will on March 14, 1777, was in her ninety-fourth year when she died on March 9, 1788.<sup>2</sup> Neither her will nor the probate of her estate mentioned Nero.<sup>3</sup>

Edwards: on enslaving Negroes, 1772

1772 September 16 (Wednesday). At Night came Mr. Searl of Stoneham from New-Haven, and lodged here.

1772 September 17 (Thursday). N.B. Mr. Searl borrows of me Mr. Edwards on enslaving Negroes.

Note: John Searle (1721-1787), Yale 1745, was born in Northampton. He served as minister of Sharon, CT, 1748-1754; Stoneham, 1759-1776; and Royalton, VT, 1783-1787). According to Franklin Bowditch Dexter, Searle’ education “is said to have been due to the interest taken in him by him” by Jonathan Edwards, and he “is said to have studied theology” with Edwards. (Dexter, Yale Graduates, 2:53.) While serving in Stoneham, “he is said to have assisted in preparing for posthumous publication some of the writings of his preceptor, Jonathan Edwards.” (Ibid., 54.)

The reference to “Mr. Edwards on enslaving Negroes” is fascinating. If the reference is in fact to Jonathan Edwards, there’s nothing in Parkman’s diary to indicate how Parkman obtained the manuscript. On Edwards’s complicated relationship to slavery, see Kenneth P. Minkema, “Jonathan Edwards on Slavery and the Slave Trade,” William and Mary Quarterly, 54:4 (Oct. 1997), 823-34; idem, “Jonathan Edwards’ Defense of Slavery,” Massachusetts Historical Review 4 (2002), 23-59; and George M. Marsden, Jonathan Edwards: A Life (New Haven: Yale University Press, 2003), 255-58.

Hutchinson, Rev. Aaron: criticized for baptizing Negro, 1772

1772 September 21 (Monday). I went again to the Church Meeting at Grafton.... N.B. Mr. Shermans Exception against Mr. Hutchinson for baptizing a Negro without Administering the Covenant to him. Mr. Hutchinson told us he judged he did, for he did it as he, the Negro, could bear -- in such Language as, by its being familiar, he might understand -- spoke Negro, That is, such broken words and accents as they Speak. Mr. Sherman hastily took him up, and asked him if he could speak Negro? And grew ready to accuse him for this, which was to us Surprizing.

Hardy, Sim., free Negro: mows for EP, 1774

1774 July 29 (Friday). Sim. Hardy, a Free Negro, came (according to Agreement), and mowes with Asa and John McCulloch, at the Interval, for me.

Gin: “black Girl” of the Eli Forbes (Parkman’s son-on-law), 1775

1775 March 11 (Saturday). My son and Daughter Forbes with their black Girl came.

1775 March 13 (Monday). Mr. Forbes and my Daughter Set out on their Journey to Boston, designing to go to Mr. Pope, to consult him on her Sad Case, of her Breast. Gin, their Negro Girl, rides in Mr. Elisha Forbes’s Waggon.

Caesar: Mrs. Surcomb’s Negro, 1775

1775 March 18 (Saturday). Mrs. Surcombs Negro, Caesar, here with an Indian Woman whom he calls his Wife. She said her former name was Betty Speen. After their Eating some Dinner, they left us to go to Amasa Maynards but have little Reason to think they did.

1775 April 1 (Saturday). We called at Mr. Gales partly to bear a Message from Mrs. Surcomb concerning her Caesar, who had left his Mistress’s Horse there, and was upon Charge....

1775 April 13 (Thursday). Hearing that Mrs. Flagg of Boston was come up to Gales after Caesar (her Mother Surcombs Negro) and was detained there by the storm, I rode down there, in the Morning; but she and two sons with her (Thomas and Richard Surcomb) were gone.

Happy: Rev. Aaron Smith’s “Negro Woman,” 1776

1776 March 31 (Sunday). I preached at Marlborough.... At Eve it was so wet, and So difficult travelling, that I was obliged to tarry there. Neither did Mr. Smith return home. His Negro Woman Happy, has a strong Fitt. They needed, and had, my Help. And call in a Neighbour who was Strong to lift her, being very heavy. The Fitt came on again. She was lifted to the Bed, and lay composed, though she had not her Senses.

1774 August 11 (Thursday). Came home in Safety. Thanks to God. In returning called at Col. Weeks. Dined at Cousen Uriah Brigham’s. Visit Mr. Smith in Affliction. His negro woman, Happy, under a Dropsie.

1777 July 17 (Thursday). Breck also goes to Worcester, and designs then for Hubbards Town to one Dr. Clark, to bring him to See Hannah.

1777 July 18 (Friday). Hannah, though She was pritty Comfortable Yesterday, had a bad night for coughing, etc. The morning Mr. Wood who is out of Health and rides about to help her, came here and in the Baldwin Chaise took Hannah and rode up to Shrewsbury to meet with the abovesaid Dr. Clark. But they all returned without that Part of their Errand.

Note: Possibly Anthony, “the celebrated colored doctor,” whose daughter Anna married Ralph Adams (“colored”). “He, his sons, his daughter Anna (Mrs. Adams), and his grandsons, Amos and Benjamin, all had a wide reputation for skill in curing diseases by the use of roots and herbs.” J. M. Stowe, History of the Town of Hubbardston, Worcester County, Mass...with the Genealogy of Present and Former Resident Families (Hubbardston, Mass.: Published by the Committee, 1881), 220, 250.

Hill, Gershom: “Molatto from Squire Bakers,” 1778

1778 October 6 (Tuesday). Elias returns from Cambridge and has been also to Boston. But what we are somewhat Surprized with is, he rides home Brecks Mare, which was found in a Pasture at [blank] by Gershom Hill the Molatto from Squire Bakers, who going down below, Breck furnished with an Advertisement. We are now whole footed again: but the Charges by the Loss and Recovery amount to 40 Dollars.
